

MR. ROOSEVELT'S HARD HITS.

MAKING A LIVELY ONSLAUGHT UPON NEW YORK'S ALDERMEN.

His Bill to Strip them of Powers Ordered to Take Reading—Other Vigorous Speeches—Mr. Hobart Slams Us the Republicans in the Senate—Sharp Rapid Transit Debate.

ALBANY, Feb. 5.—On a test vote in Committee of the Whole to-day, Mr. Roosevelt's bill giving the Mayor of New York the absolute appointing power got sufficient strength from a combination of Republicans and rural Democrats to make certain its passage through the Assembly. It is sure to go to the Senate in a few days, when the staff of which Mr. James J. Beilin has made the committee will be well tested.

From all quarters of the State the cry comes up from rural Republicans that the disgraceful Tammany—Republican deal of 1882 must not be repeated in the Senate, and Mr. Beilin will have to bring hydraulic pressure to bear on some frightened Senators to keep them in line.

The debate led over to a third reading the existing from taxation lands complained with 600 forest trees to the acre.

BILLS INTRODUCED IN THE ASSEMBLY.

Mr. Howe—Regulating the height of dwellings not exceeding forty feet in width, seventy feet high and on streets exceeding six feet, not more than eighty feet.

Mr. Ervin—Authorizing the payment of $2,000 to Henry C. Stetson, of the New York firm for services rendered to the Senate Committee on Finance and the special committee of the Assembly on insolvent debts.

Gov. Cleveland voted an appropriation for this purpose last year.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

Delivered by Royal Commission to 26 Peers and 40 Members of the Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Parliament was opened to-day. The crowd in the streets during the opening ceremony was smaller than usual. Twenty-six peers were present in the House of Lords. The House of Commons were summoned to the bar of the House of Lords, and about forty trooped in. The speech was delivered by royal commission, after which both Houses suspended sitting until 4 o'clock. Following is the speech:

MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN: I continue to hold friendly communications with the President of the French Republic, and am gratified by the cordial understanding between the two Presidents. I have likewise, in conjunction with the French, arranged a commission, which is now sitting in Paris, to consider the best arrangement for the future regulation of the Newfoundland fisheries.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.

My dear Sirs, we are still in the heat of

the day beats upon him. Through the supremacy of the so-called respectable votes of the New York City fathers, the government has been responsible for letting the rogues have full play.

People residing out of New York have no idea how many millions of dollars the population of that city take in public affairs.

The city is, indeed, ruled by what may be called the aristocracy of the bad, or as much so as the own obscurity.